Miller Williams Poetry Series
EDITED BY BILLY COLLINS

[explicit lyrics]
Poems by Andrew Gent
Winner, 2016 Miller Williams Poetry Prize

"A fascinating collection of poems that slip through their own cracks and seem to vanish before the reader’s eyes.” —Billy Collins

Cenotaph
Poems by Brock Jones
Finalist, 2016 Miller Williams Poetry Prize

"Jones more than manages to render precisely the mess of war with tenderness and insight.” —Billy Collins

See You Soon
Poems by Laura McKee
Finalist, 2016 Miller Williams Poetry Prize

"Delightfully unpredictable poems full of fresh turns and local surprises in which irony and smarts blend agreeably with credible feeling.” —Billy Collins

When We Were Birds
Poems by Joe Wilkins
Finalist, 2016 Miller Williams Poetry Prize

"Full of imaginative novelty as well as reminders that miraculous secrets are hidden in the fabric of everyday life,” —Billy Collins

Every year, the University of Arkansas Press accepts submissions for the Miller Williams Poetry Series and from the books selected awards the $5,000 Miller Williams Poetry Prize. Applications are accepted year-round. The deadline for the following year’s prize is 30 September. Apply online at www.uapress.com.
Hagar Poems
Mohja Kahf

“Kahf brilliantly transposes the disorienting experience of life in the U.S. for many immigrant and marginalized women with the rich history of the Abrahamic religions.”—Booklist

You Are Here
Leon Stokesbury

Winnowed from a distinguished career, then distilled, then polished and winnowed again, the poems in You Are Here are Leon Stokesbury’s best from fifty years of published work.

The New Babel
Toward a Poetics of the Mid-East Crises
Leonard Schwartz

“An exemplary inquiry into the relationship between the power of words and worldly power.”
—Edwin Frank

For more information about these and other University of Arkansas Press books, the $5,000 Miller Williams Poetry Prize, the CantoMundo Poetry Series, and the Etel Adnan Poetry Series, visit uapress.com.