

American Writers Review

We are pleased to introduce to a new anthology from San Fedele Press: "American Writers Review, 2019".

American Writers Review, which has been in print for seven years, is a compilation of fiction, non-fiction, poetry, art and photography from both established and emerging writers.

Among the contributors to American Writers Review are the Rilke Award winner, Robin Metz, the international poet and playwright, Colin Pink, novelist Andy Grell, Jersey girls, D Ferrara (also the editor), Patricia Florio (founder) and many others. We are pleased to include a new, stunning photo essay by Jeff Talarigo. The book's contributors hail from the United States, Canada, Australia and Europe.

We are always looking for new writers. Submission guidelines can be found at www.americanwritersreview.com.
