

Consequence

addressing the human consequences and realities of war and geopolitical violence through literature and art

Consequence has a rich tradition of publishing engaging translations and nonfiction, including Richard Hoffman's 2022 Pushcart-winning essay "Remembering the Alchemists." We look to strengthen this tradition in both our Spring '22 print volume and our online platform, so if you have exceptional work in either of these genres, please send them to us via www.consequenceforum.org/submissions.