Free Community Story Swap 2-3:30pm

led by Sarah Malone, past president of Storytellers of New Mexico - open to the public

Grand StorySLAM 5:30-7pm

Judges: Cisco Guevara, Sarah Malone & David McDonnell

David McDonnell is a critically acclaimed author and story teller ("seanchai" in the words of the Irish) with a passion for Irish and Irish-American history. His passion and story-telling skills have enchanted and educated both readers and listeners in both America and Ireland.

Cisco Guevara is a local storytelling legend and owner of Los Rios River Runners and multigenerational New Mexican and has participated in the Taos Storytelling Festival since its inception. He draws his outrageously true stories from his Hispanic and Indian heritage, and from his dynamic experience as a river guide over the last quarter century.

Sarah Malone is a bilingual storyteller who has woven tales for children and adults for over 30 years. Through storytelling, Sarah breathes life into words – drawing the listener into another realm through the powerful relationship between storyteller and listener. She is a published author, recording artist, a founding member of Storytellers of New Mexico and its current treasurer.

ALL EVENTS AT SOMOS. RSVP'S REQUIRED TO ACCOMMODATE SOCIAL DISTANCING AND COVID SAFE PRACTICES.
