mfa in creative writing

Tracks in creative nonfiction, fiction, poetry, and writing for children & adolescents

- An emphasis on nature, environmental, and place-based writing encourages students to explore the world as part of their studies. Recent field seminars visited Costa Rica, India, Turkey, Vietnam, Iceland, South Africa, and Indonesia.
- Focus your craft with opportunities to concentrate in travel writing, food writing, nature writing, publishing, teaching, or social engagement.
- Choose between a full-residency or low-residency curriculum, with the ability to move easily between the options.
- Gain experience working on The Fourth River literary journal, and teach creative writing in jails, prisons, and rehabilitation centers in the Words Without Walls program.
- Fellowships available.
- Recognized as one of “Five Innovative/Unique Programs” by The Atlantic Monthly and one of “Nine Distinctive Programs” by Poets & Writers.
