

The Propel Disability Poetry Book Series

This new imprint publishes poetry written by disabled poets, edited by disabled poets, produced by Nine Mile and underwritten with generous support from Propel and the Poetry Foundation. These books exemplify the concept of "disability gain" in which disability is recognized as a source of insight and value.

New Titles!

"Disability poetry relates a rich, complex, and interesting element of the human experience."

~Stephen Kuusisto, Editor

Call for Manuscripts now open for publication in 2027!

NINE MILE

<https://www.ninemile.org/propel>

50

Calling All High School Poets!

To celebrate National Poetry Month, Nine Mile Magazine is opening up submissions to all high-school-aged poets for potential publication in our special Fall 2026 High School Poetry issue. All poets age 14-19 are invited to submit from the month of April up until August 31st.

You are invited to submit 3-5 poems in a single Word or text document for consideration. No PDFs, please. Please submit through Submittable: <https://ninemileartscorp.submittable.com/submit>

We believe that poetry is everyone's art.

NINE MILE

